DENNISON-----The First National Bank of Dennison announced today that Nichole Zesiger of Dover will become president of the Bank on January 1, 2016. She replaces Blair Hillyer, who has been president since 1988 and CEO since 1981. Hillyer will remain CEO as well as Chairman of the Board, and will retain his current positions with the holding company, FNB, Inc.

Hillyer said this promotion of Zesiger is part of the Bank's succession planning process, with the ultimate goal of continuing the First National Bank of Dennison's success into the future. "We are very fortunate to have someone with Nichole's experience assume the presidency of our Company. Nichole has spent her entire career in our industry and is familiar with our shareholder and customer base, our communities and the current regulatory structure. She has been very active in the affairs of the Ohio Bankers League for a number of years, giving her an excellent perspective of the challenges ahead in our industry."

Zesiger is a native of New Philadelphia. She received her Bachelor's degree in Finance from Ball State University and Master's Degree in Business Administration from Malone University. She is a 2007 Alumni of Leadership Tuscarawas and a 2012 graduate of the Graduate School of Banking in Madison, Wisconsin. She was the 2013 Chairman of the Board for the Tuscarawas County Chamber of Commerce and served as the 2014 President of the Next Generation Advisory Board for the Ohio Bankers League. She will become a member of the Kent Tuscarawas Foundation Board in 2016. Zesiger has been a director of The First National Bank and its parent company, FNB, Inc. since the beginning of 2015.
